

Rows are stored in contiguous memory locations

Inserting and deleting elements is slow as you can only expand/contract from the last element

